Dear Covenant Family,

This week, I've had the honor of serving on an ACCS (Association of Classical and Christian Schools) accreditation team for a school in Austin. It's always a joy to see how God is working in other schools. I've missed seeing everyone and look forward to returning on Monday with a renewed sense of appreciation for our wonderful Covenant community.

I've had an opportunity to review your feedback from our protocol survey. Our goal is to safely mitigate the spread of COVID and by God's grace, we've been successful thus far (may it please continue!). We've had off-campus exposures, but our use of cohorts, masks, and safe distances have prevented class quarantines. THANK YOU for partnering with us to keep our community healthy and safe.

We know everyone is eager to get back on campus and we are eager to find ways to make that happen. We'd like to start small with individual volunteers on campus. We're looking for about 12 volunteers to help students check out books from our library. Please let me know if you'd like to help with this opportunity.

As you would expect, all adults will need to mask up and observe protocol. Thanks for partnering with us in taking daily temperatures, completing the daily checklist, and keeping kids home when they are not well. Let's continue to rely on God's grace as we move forward.

Grace and peace,

Leslie Collins
